

November 18, 2011

Below are anticipated construction activities for the week of 11/21/2011.

*While this list encompasses numerous construction projects, it does not list all DPW projects throughout the county. The most recent work is highlighted. Also, weekend work is possible on all projects. We ask for motorists' patience and caution while driving through construction sites. All work is weather dependent.

Indianapolis Cultural Trail: A Legacy of Gene & Marilyn Glick

The traffic restrictions on New Jersey Street will be ending soon. The pavement striping is ongoing, with crosswalks and stop bars being placed. The mainline striping south of I-65 to Prospect Street and north of South Street to Pennsylvania Avenue should be complete by November 20. The section of trail between Pennsylvania Street and Delaware Street should be substantially complete by the Thanksgiving holiday weekend.

On the Central Corridor (Washington Street), the contractor is removing the orange fencing and the construction barrels between Alabama Street and Illinois Street. Work by the utility companies is still ongoing out in the street in this section where they are raising their castings to the new finish asphalt grade. The last block, between Illinois Street and Capitol Avenue, began milling and resurfacing Thursday night, November 17, and should be completed by the end of the day Saturday, November 19. The striping on this block will follow the first of next week.

Georgia Street

Georgia Street is now open to vehicular traffic and improved pedestrian access. The contractor will still be working in the median area finishing pavers and minor boardwalk items. A few items such as asphalt wedges at a couple of driveways, trash cans/recyclable cans, bike racks, etc., will need to be placed, and this will be done over the next several weeks. Please visit the project web page at <http://www.indy.gov/georgiastreet>.
